

DEATH TOLL OF EARTHQUAKE STILL MOUNTS

Many, Unaccounted For, Are Thought To Have Lost Their Lives

HOSPITALS ARE FILLED

Many Towns In Interior Of Trans-Jordania Are In Ruins

CAIRO, July 13. (I.N.S.)—Demoralized transportation facilities today hampered the efforts of relief forces striving to reach the interior of Trans-Jordania, where more than 1,000 persons are believed to have lost their lives in the most serious earth-quake in the last 1200 years.

Although not more than 150 are believed to have been killed by the tremor in Palestine itself, a far greater number than this lost their lives, according to latest available reports, when earth shocks rocked wide territories in various sections of Trans-Jordania.

The number of injured is yet unknown due to the difficulty of obtaining full details of the catastrophe from the affected area.

An eye witness arriving here from Trans-Jordania reported that 300 persons had been killed at Maan, eighty at Lydda, seventy-two at Ramleh, and thirty-six at Amana.

All hospitals in the district are filled to overflowing with the injured. The Eastern portion of Palestine, and the section of Trans-Jordania directly adjoining it, appear to have been the worst hit by the quake.

The population of the affected region has been thrown into a panic for fear of a repetition of the tremor. Many persons whose homes were not destroyed, as well as hundreds of others who were made homeless by the quake, are camping in the open, fearful that another tremor will bring their roofs down about their heads.

The dome of the sacred tomb at Nabulus, one of the most revered structures in the Holy Land, was cracked by the tremor. Many houses in this town collapsed, burying their occupants beneath its ruins.

The districts shaken by the shock present a spectacle of desolation. Dozens of homes and edifices were leveled. The minaret of a new mosque at Amana broke in two at its upper portion, crashing downward, and burying many beneath it.

According to available reports, little actual damage was done in Egypt proper by the quake, although it is feared that a recurrence of the tremor might endanger the pyramids and other Egyptian monuments of antiquity.

Casualties have been reported from more than twenty towns and villages. These reports continued to be augmented by tales of horror and suffering as additional information trickled in over crippled telegraph wires and by courier.

LAUDS ELECTION OF MEREDITH AS PRES.

Publisher Says Selection Was An Excellent One By The N. E. A.

KNOWS WELL HIS CRAFT

Charles M. Meredith, Sr., owner and editor of the Quakertown Free Press, Quakertown, Bucks County, Pa., was recently elected president of the National Editorial Association.

Walter L. Sanborn, publisher of the Lansdale Reporter, writes as follows in "The American Press," a monthly publication devoted to the interests of publishers:

"The National Editorial Association, in choosing Charles M. Meredith, Sr., owner and editor of the Quakertown (Pa.) Free Press, has elected a man as president who is at once that rare combination—a real printer and a real editor.

"He is a real printer because he learned the trade through genuine apprenticeship in the office of the North Wales (Pa.) Record, under the tutelage of the late Wilmer Johnson. He is a real editor by virtue of that same apprenticeship.

"He enlisted in the craft for the magnificent stipend of fifty copper cents as a reward for his labors from Monday morning to Saturday night.

"Charlie," as the craft knows him in his native state, where he has served for years in this capacity and that, was a stripling with an 'itch to write' when he entered the Record office. He loved to push a pencil in the days when his thoughts were far better than his spelling, and he tells you with an engaging drawl how when he first saw his 'stuff' in print his joy was exceeded only by his amazement over the manifest discrimination displayed by the 'boss.'

"An excellent printer, a better editor, and withal a business man, he found himself one day the owner of the Perkasio (Pa.) Central News, in a pretty and prosperous village, less than 20 miles as the crow flies from the office in which he learned the mystery of types and presses.

Under the untiring patience of its new publisher the Central News prospered. But there came a time when the political bug cast inspiring whippers into the auditory apparatus of the Perkasio editor. It is rumored that the aforesaid bug, knowing how best to attract the attention of an editor, who is also a business man, beat two silver dollars together after the manner of cymbals.

"Be that as it may, Charles listened. Inspired by the siren music, he permitted himself to be persuaded to run for high sheriff of Bucks county. He was elected, sold his paper and devoted four long years to the gloomy business of operating the public collection agency which Pennsylvania glorifies with the name of shrievalty.

"Four years were ample—even more than ample. Sheriff Meredith performed his duties with meticulous care. He satisfied the most exacting. He garnered rich experience in one of life's toughest schools—and returned on the run to his pen and column rules. He bought the Free Press, moving another half dozen miles from the point where he had embarked upon the ocean of ink.

"In a dozen years he has seen the paper prosper beyond his rosiest dreams, and at the age of 50, he could, if he would, wash the ink from his hands and sleep the sleep of material success. Such a thing is farthest from his thoughts.

"Today he has more leisure than he has ever known. With Charles, Jr., to bat for him at the office he finds time to do things about which he has dreamed. But these do not include a life of inertia and waste. He prefers to serve and this service is usually to the craft. Now has come his greatest opportunity.

"His intimates know he will do his work as well as could be expected of a Baptist and a Fundamentalist, and better than any other man who dwells within their ken.

"He can make a clever speech because he has lived the thing he talks, and he should guide the association wisely for the self-same reason.

—Mrs. Warren Thompson, Miss Pearl Corning, Misses Helen and Margaret Simmons, have returned home after spending ten days at the Thompson Cottage at Ocean Grove.

MRS. ANNA RYAN IS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

Jefferson Avenue Resident Dies Late Tuesday Afternoon

ONE SON SURVIVES

Mrs. Anna Ryan (nee Biglan), of 337 Jefferson avenue, passed away at her home here Tuesday afternoon.

Although not in good health for several weeks, Mrs. Ryan was able to be about the house. On Saturday last, she suffered a stroke of apoplexy, which confined her to her bed, death occurring late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Ryan, who was the widow of Thomas Ryan, is survived by one son, Thomas, who made his home with his mother; and two sisters, Mrs. Maurice Roche, and Mrs. Ellen Duffy, both of Bristol.

She had a number of friends in Bristol and vicinity, and was one who took a keen interest in her home and family.

The funeral to which relatives and friends are invited, will be held from the late home of the deceased, Saturday at 9.30 a. m. High Mass will be said at St. Mark's Church at 10 o'clock, and burial will be made in St. Mark's Cemetery.

INDIANA, PA., July 13 (I.N.S.)—A new method of disposing of the income tax man has been revealed here thru letters from Miss Hilda Stump, missionary in East Africa.

Miss Stump sent a clipping telling how a Belgian officer and Retinue had attempted to induce a native tribe to submit to an income tax. The natives, however, did not appear to relish the idea of paying taxes to the white government.

The morning after an all day conference with the tribal chieftains disclosed an assorted variety of bones and anatomical parts that were not prandially attractive, where the night before the Belgian officer and his retinue had retired.

Miss Stump did not say the natives ate the tax collector, but neither did she say the wild animals in the neighborhood enjoyed a meal that night.

PICKED TEAMS TO PLAY FOR HOSPITAL BENEFIT

Battle Scheduled for St. Ann's Field at Six-Thirty This Evening

PUBLIC URGED TO HELP

What promises to be one of the best games of baseball to be played here this season, will be staged on St. Ann's Field tonight at 6.30 (daylight saving time).

The players of both teams will be made up from the teams of the Twilight League.

Manager Leyden will have charge of the "Independents" and will have "Smoky Joe" Kohler or "Bill" Fine do the hurling with Dietrich on the receiving end. When interviewed today Manager Leyden said:

"I don't talk for publication, as a rule, but will say that the game tonight for the benefit of the hospital will be a red hot game.

"With Kohler and Fine in good condition I don't see how we can lose. In regard to the rest of my line-up I would prefer to let the fans wait until they see them trot out on the field."

This is all Leyden would say, and as he turned to go we noticed a mysterious smile on his face, as much as to say: "Wait and see."

"Dannie" McDevitt will look after the "All Stars" and will have "Iron Man" McCarry on the mound, with Brady behind the bat. When seen today he said: "Sure, I'll give you my line-up. We have J. Brady, c.; McCarry, p.; David, lb.; Roe, 2b.; Dugan, 3b.; McDevitt, ss.; Barrett, lf.; H. Brady, cf.; McIlvaine, rf.; and I want to say now that Leyden and his mysterious line-up will know that they have been in a ball game at the end of the ninth inning."

"Dannie" was full of pep and just flowing over with confidence and seemed anxious for the time to yell: "Play ball."

So fans, there you have it. Don't forget the date, tonight. The place, St. Ann's Field. The time, 6.30 p. m. (daylight saving time).

Come early as no seats will be reserved.

Physicians estimated the man had been dead eight hours when the body was found.

CONFERENCE ATTRACTS MANY WOMEN VOTERS

Members of League of Women Voters of Five Counties Attend

TOPICS OF INTEREST

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—Politics and the woman's place in political affairs were among the topics discussed by members of Pennsylvania League of Women Voters at the intercounty conference, held at the home of Mrs. Charles M. Lea in Devon, Pa., yesterday.

Nearly 400 women from five counties gathered at the conference to discuss the coming primaries. The counties represented were: Philadelphia, Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Harry Whitney, chairman of the Chester County League of Women Voters. An address of welcome was made by Mrs. Lea, the hostess.

The value of clean government and how the women of the league should do their part in making the coming primaries clean was explained by Mrs. John O. Miller, chairman of the league, at the afternoon session.

"Women have a definite place in present day politics," she said, "and it is up to women of this league to prove that they have. At the last election only 25 per cent. of those eligible to vote in Pennsylvania went to the polls. In a number of wards in this city the voting list was increased more than 50 per cent. This was done through the efforts of women's organizations.

"Many women who know it is their duty to cast a vote, fail to do so. For that reason they do not hold the same prestige they held in 1921. When women were first allowed to vote they were shown every courtesy. Through their lack of knowledge they have become less thought of as politicians.

"In 1917 they were ruled off the floor of the house as lobbyists, but they came back again in 1921 and they continue to come back each year. We must have intelligent leaders and big constituents before we can get our legislative bills before the Senate. If we are not careful some other organization will come along with the same program and beat us to it.

"The day is coming when there will be science in government the same as there is science in everything else. The rust must be taken out of politics. Baltimore is following such a program. They have already injected a little science in their municipal government, which is a step in the right direction and something this organization is striving to attain. Every political eye is focused on Baltimore to see what effect the changes are going to have on the city.

"It is the same with our Courts. There are many cases which should never be tried by a jury. They should be brought before a judge who understands law and can give a fair decision. The day is coming when the layman will grow disgusted with the slowness of justice in the United States. That is the day that a great reform will be started in this country."

At the morning session Mrs. George S. Seltzer, of Philadelphia county, gave an address on the Philadelphia Courts. She explained that there are five Courts in this city and each has its individual duties to reform.

She laid great stress on the importance of the minor Judiciary Courts of Philadelphia. She told how the Magistrates hear all cases before they are brought before the higher Courts.

"It is the duty of the Magistrate to

NEW HOPE WOMAN GIVEN PLAY PRIZE

Miss Marg't Turnbull, Writer, Receives First Honors In State

SETTING IN BUCKS CO.

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—Miss Margaret Turnbull, of New Hope, has been awarded the highest prize for the state of Pennsylvania in a national contest in play-writing held under the auspices of the Drama League of America.

Miss Turnbull's play, "L. G.'s Wife," will be submitted to Walter Pritchard Eaton, Brock Pemberton and Nathaniel E. Reid, who will decide upon the best play written in the United States.

The contest was arranged in order to foster the writing of plays on American themes by American playwrights. The judges for Pennsylvania were Elmer Kenyon, who is one of the directors of the Drama League of America and president of the Pittsburgh Center and Arthur Hobson Quinn, of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

"L. G.'s Wife" is the story of a modern Persephone who marries a king of the modern underworld because she admires his power and the ruthless way in which he uses it. Chance takes away the beauty of the woman and the power of the man, but through love the woman acquires greater power and the woman greater beauty.

The story was written in one of the oldest towns of Pennsylvania, New Hope, which has attracted a whole colony of artists, craftsmen and writers to settle in the town where once Washington quartered his troops during the Revolution. Miss Turnbull lives in one of the quaint old stone farm houses built by the Quaker settlers. She was born in Glasgow, Scotland, but came to the United States when she was a small child, and has spent her life in New York City and New Jersey. She prefers to live in the country, especially in Pennsylvania. She has written more than fifty motion pictures and scenarios among which are the following: "Genesee of the Hills," "A Society Policeman," "Classmates," "On the Square," "The Dead-look" and "At the Mire."

LOSS OF $12,000 CAUSED BY FIRE IN BENSLEM

Two Unoccupied Houses Are Discovered On Fire By Neighbors

WERE ONE MILE APART

Firemen Get Second Alarm Hour and Half After The First

Two fires of mysterious origin occurred in Bensalem Township yesterday afternoon, the second blaze breaking out one and one-half hours after the first call was received by the fire companies.

It was at 3.15 that a house of the estate of Frank Smedley, 2½ miles from Hulmeville, was discovered to be on fire by neighbors. Companies from South Langhorne, Hulmeville, and Langhorne responded to a call, but the fire had gained such headway that the place was entirely destroyed.

The house, which was a 2½ story structure, was burned to the ground. It was valued at $9,000, and some insurance was carried on same. The dwelling contained 12 rooms and was in very good condition. It had not been occupied for some time.

At 4.45 another call was received when neighbors near a house owned by Jacob Abrams, one mile from the Smedley place, discovered it to be ablaze. This house, one and one-half stories high, was said to be worth $3,000. Like the Smedley property it had not been occupied for some time.

The Hulmeville, Cornwells Heights, and Newportville fire companies were summoned to the second conflagration, and managed to save a small portion of the building. A small amount of insurance was likewise carried on the Abrams place.

An investigation will be started immediately by the authorities to determine what caused the two fires.

Simpson Grove Will Open Annual Season

The forty-seventh annual session of the Simpson Grove Camp Meeting will be inaugurated Friday evening, 15th instant, with Rev. Amos Johnson, D. D., only surviving member of the founders serving as spiritual director.

The program this year is a radical departure from former years. Instead of presenting noted pastors on successive evenings the managers have engaged the services of Dr. Tilman Hobson, eminent Friends' pastor and evangelist, who will preach each evening and at the three services of Sunday. Dr. Hobson is a brilliant speaker and his addresses abound in wit and humor. He is especially popular with young people and has been in great demand as a speaker to men. He has had a remarkably successful career as an evangelist in his work throughout the United States. He is engaged to preach later at Chester Heights Camp Meeting, Chester Heights, Pa., and at Pitman Grove, N. J.

The leader of young people's work will be Rev. J. J. Bingham, who was for several years pastor of the Methodist Church, here. Mrs. Bingham will organize and conduct special classes for children.

An elaborate musical program will be presented under direction of Mr. Leon T. Moore, of Philadelphia, who is an accomplished vocalist and choir director. The Royal Trumpeters will play on Monday evening, the 18th, and the Stroudsburg Male Chorus will sing at all the services on Sunday, July 25th.

County S. S. Work Shows Improvements

DOYLESTOWN, July 13.—Bucks county Sunday School workers have received accounts of the work being done throughout the State by the state organization.

This has included a traveling record of 39,482 miles in two months, 586 meetings participated in, 552 addresses delivered, 225 conferences conducted, 586 interviews held in visits to 140 county wide Sunday School meetings.

It is said the achievements of the first three calendar months, greater than a whole year ten years ago, coupled with the results of May and June, show results which cause the leaders much gratification.

The state association camps are reported to be filled to the limit with young folks preparing themselves to be real leaders.

The Bucks county association contributes $375 annually to the state organization.

Wallace Gerhart, president of the county association, is in charge of plans for attending the state convention.

BUY IN BRISTOL!

A DOLLAR SPENT IN BRISTOL IS WORTH TWO SPENT ELSEWHERE BECAUSE IT IS REINVESTED BY LOCAL PEOPLE IN LOCAL ENTERPRISES AND HELPS TO PAY FOR LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Did you ever really give the subject of the local merchant and you any serious thought?

Perhaps you are a loyal citizen and patronize local shops and stores as a matter of loyalty, but as this is not a lecture it will do no harm to read this, anyhow.

Your local merchant is first a citizen, a resident of your community the same as you are.

He lives in your community, pays taxes along with you for the upkeep and improvement of your community; he raises his family and sends his children to school—schools which he helps, with you, to maintain.

If he is a butcher, he buys clothes and shoes for his family from a fellow-merchant. No matter what his line of business, he spends money with other business men of the community.

He banks in local banks; he takes his family of an evening to the local shows.

Summed up, the money he makes in the community is spent in it.

Were it not for your local merchant, there would be no schools, no paved streets, no public buildings, no progress nor prosperity. He is here day in and day out, rain or shine, giving his time and energy and money to whatever will benefit the district, taking part in the administrations of the community or aiding to regulate the administration for the best interests of the community by his vote.

HE IS A CITIZEN—

Is he not entitled, then, to consideration?

But there is something more than a call for your loyalty to him as citizen to citizen—neighbor to neighbor.

Living here as he does, he comes to know his customers. They are to him not "just customers," but "fellow citizens," "good neighbors." As he will be here tomorrow and the next day and next year, meeting his customers face to face, day after day, his business gets his personal attention—every transaction is a personal dealing between him and the patron.

He is your neighbor—your fellow citizen, building for tomorrow and next year, and fully cognizant that the only way to build is to sell good goods at right prices.

Your local merchant is in himself a guarantee of his goods and prices and services because he is always at the same stand meeting largely the same customers.

He cannot exist upon the patronage of transients—his livelihood comes from permanent residents; his aim is to make permanent residents regular customers. He must do this—hence his wares, his prices and his service are all and always arranged and held to this end.

You never heard your live-wire, wide-awake home merchant say, "Oh, well, one customer more or less makes no difference." Every customer, to him, is important; a new customer is eagerly sought, and a customer less—well, your local merchant will not let it happen if anything just and reasonable under the sun will prevent such a thing happening.

So not alone out of a sense of loyalty to your community, but for your own sake—for the sake of your purse and the satisfaction of being given personal attention and service—buy of our home merchants.

DEMPSEY BEING TRAINED FOR 15-ROUND BOUT

By Davis J. Walsh
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 13.—In the face of the fact that there is not more than one chance in three that his fight will go the limit, it was evident today that Jack Dempsey was being pointed for fifteen rounds with Jack Sharkey, and no less, on the night of July 21. The average man, having been tossed into a foot race with Nurni, would give everything he had in the first 300 yards in the perfectly legitimate belief that whatever happened after that would lie in the lap of destiny.

But Dempsey, ordinarily one of these all or nothing birds if ever there was one, apparently is not to gamble this time. He, it seems, is to do something he never figured to do when he was great. He is to go in there imbued with the idea that the winner of this fight may have to be determined by the vote of a referee and two judges, instead of by a left and right to the goatee.

It all sounds like a lot of broad crumbs to me but the evidence of Dempsey's present style goes as nothing more than a waist-high fast one, right through the middle. The Dempsey shift is gone, because a man who stands on the flat of his left foot cannot shift any more than a corner stone of a skyscraper.

So has the Dempsey weave, because no longer does he glide forward at his man on the balls of his feet. With a flat left foot, he naturally leans back and that has taken something out of his right counter, too. A modern and equally somnambulant Mr. Van Winkle, having gone to sleep at Atlantic City in 1921, might wake up at White Sulphur Springs today in some doubt as to whether the man he saw in the training ring here wasn't a colossal masquerader.

He would recognize the beetling, forbidding scowl, the rough, wavy shock of hair, the tell-tale spread of the knees that marks the bitter and that left hook to the body and jaw. The latter still is a great punch, not what it was six years ago, naturally, but a weapon that very well might end everything like a home run over the fence.

It is just good enough yesterday that I even saw it landing on Sharkey's jaw and had a mental photograph of the boy orator sitting suddenly down and trying to alter that embarrassing circumstance to the best of his ability. Dempsey is impressive as he lashes out with his left and no mistake.

He is impressive, also, in the self evident matter of physical condition. This, a big factor in the Tunney fight, is of secondary importance here. A man who knows nothing of a fighter's condition, which very well might be an accurate description of the writer, couldn't miff the fact that Dempsey is a well trained gent.

In fact, he looks great. But so would any other man who had spent the last three months in the open, indulging in the proper amount of physical exercise and watching his diet. Even a consumptive begins to look like a matinee idol after he has spent a large portion of his time in the Arizona desert.

They are tacking Dempsey down here and, frankly, it isn't a bad hunch. That pitiful exhibition against Tunney can't be laughed off with a callopie and there is no reason to suspect that the young man should be a great deal better for having added another year to his life. It is the general understanding that a man doesn't get better as he grows older and darling Jack is growing that way with every tick of the clock.

Yet I couldn't slough the thought that Dempsey has a real chance, the chance of any natural gambler who shoots the works on a single roll. However, I would think better of that chance if he was being sent to the post with just that notion and not that of a man who expects to come out with a four and then outstay the situation.

The odds on a four are 2 to 1 after a man "comes out" and that is about what Dempsey is entitled to, if they persist in making a marathon runner out of a natural born sprinter.

hear all misdemeanor cases, and if it is in his power to impose the penalty or discharge the accused he does so to keep the higher Courts from becoming cluttered with such cases," she said.

Mrs. Thomas Ross, of Doylestown, spoke at length on registration and enrollment, with a view to the September primaries. The direct primaries as a nomination system was discussed by Mrs. John M. Odgen, of Swarthmore. She was followed by Mrs. John Y. Huber, of Ardmore, who spoke on the Montgomery County Court system.

Pleasure was also mixed with the many political discussions. Most of the women brought their lunches and ate on the spacious grounds surrounding Mrs. Lea's home during the noon recess.

At the afternoon session Mrs. C. Albert Fox, of Chester county, conducted a discussion of county questions. Among those who spoke at this session were Mrs. Frederick G. Corbus, Mrs. Marie A. O'Connell, Mrs. Horace Wunderle, Mrs. Edward Batchelor and Mrs. A. B. Geary.

The sessions were closed with the presentation of a play entitled "Citizens at Their Worst," written by Lucille J. Buchanan, who took the part of judge of elections. It was a farce playlet dealing with the numerous mistakes made by the uninformed voter.

What does
mean to you?

THIS rich full-flavored old Burley is a particularly cool-smoking tobacco to begin with... Wellman's Method makes it cooler—but the "rough cut" supplies the finishing touch.

For remember, this is PIPE tobacco, hence it is cut in the one way pipe tobacco should be cut—in large, coarse, shaggy flakes that burn slower, smoke cooler, and last nearly twice as long. Smokers tell us it's the coolest cut of all!

The half-pound vacuum tin is forty-five cents
The foil-pouch, sealed in glassine, is ten cents
